

Death of Indian Boy.

John Hardson, a former pupil at the Indian school, but who has, until recently, been working in company with his brother, Ben Hardson, now in jail awaiting trial upon the charge of selling mortgaged goods, died Monday night at the Indian school of consumption.

The funeral services were conducted yesterday from the Indian chapel by Rev. C. E. B. Ward. The pupils of the school followed the casket to Teller institute cemetery where the remains of their former school fellow were laid to rest.
